

The BEHAVIORAL HEALTH HOME at Dirigo Counseling Clinic

The Behavioral Health Home is a model of service which reflects a more modern approach to traditional case management services. This is available to Medicaid clients (with some exceptions) who also have two or more chronic conditions such as asthma or diabetes. It aspires to more intense care with the “triple aim” of: 1. better outcomes, 2. higher patient satisfaction, and 3. lower costs.

The notion of “Home” means that all of your medical and behavioral health services are more integrated and centralized rather than fragmented.

Under this model of care, there is more collaboration among providers and a central Plan of Care to assure that all of your health needs are considered in one central Plan.
